

ROOF – BARRY CALLEBAUT – GHANA

BARRY CALLEBAUT is the world's largest chocolate manufacturer.

It was created in 1996 through the merger of the Belgian chocolate producer Callebaut and the French company Cacao Barry.

It is currently based in Zurich, Switzerland, and operates in more than 40 countries worldwide. Its customers include multinational and national branded consumer goods manufacturers and artisanal users of chocolate (chocolatiers, pastry chefs, bakeries and caterers).
